How it Started?

Sparks fly, lips lock, and love is born. That's how the movies go, right? Our story is sort of like that, but we like to think everything makes sense when it's supposed to and our timing was perfect testament to that.

Introduced by friends, we started our lives together by going for sushi and listening to Unforgettable on repeat from the city back to Queens (a whole 30 minutes of a 3-minute song is about 10 times on repeat). As silly as that sounds, it actually makes perfect sense when you think how unforgettable our lives together have become since.

Legend even has it that after that first date, Agatha called her best friend up and re-enacted her favorite scene from one of her favorite movies, Elf, where he gleefully exclaims:

I'm in love, I'm in love, and I don't care who knows it!

The rest, as they say, is history, but many sushi dinner dates and sunny beaches later, we're committed to creating more unforgettable memories together forever.

Interesting Fact

before we knew each other, we actually lived one block away from each other in Astoria and never knew it until seven years later!
